SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

Dr. Aaron W. Harper, dean, School of Education

Dr. Reid L. McKinney, chairman, Department of Curriculum and Teaching

The chief purpose of the Department of Curriculum and Teaching in the school of education, is to prepare teachers at the undergraduate levels for pre-schools, elementary, secondary schools and colleges. Horace Mann Elementary and College High School serve as laboratories where students observe experienced and competent teachers actively applying theory in the classroom.

The graduate program in the department enables students to continue their studies in greater depth.

Mr. Prentice Gudgen, chairman, Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Dr. Paul T. Dixon, chairman, Department of Administration and School Services.

Dr. E. G. Kennedy, chairman, Department of Psychology and Counselor Education.

The department of Psychology and Counselor Education offers courses leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Science in Education and Bachelor of Arts for undergraduate students majoring in psychology. For graduate students in Psychology, the department offers courses leading to the degrees of Master of Science with majors in both psychology and educational psychology and of Specialist in Education for students majoring in school psychology.

The objectives of the department emphasize undergraduate preparation in psychology for admission to graduate programs.

Dr. Willis L. Tompkins, Acting Dean, School of Arts and Sciences.

SCHOOL OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Dr. Willis Tompkins serves as acting dean for the newly-created School of Arts and Sciences. This school contains the departments of Art, Biology, Business, English, Foreign Language, History, Home Economics, Mathematics, Military Science, Music, Physics, Social Science, and Speech and Dramatic Art. The School of Arts and Sciences exists for the purpose of coordinating efforts among departments and facilitating better communication between faculty and administration.

Students view display at the clothesline art sale.

Mr. Reed L. Schmickle, Acting Chairman, Department of Art.

Individual achievement is stressed in art classes.

ART

As a result of recent academic reorganization of the college, K.S.C. again has an art department distinguished as such from other departments. For years, the department continues in growth with the addition of one new faculty member and an increase of fifteen art majors over last year.

In addition to regular class activities, field trips to regional galleries and museums have added an extra dimension to the experiences of K.S.C. art students. Other stimulating extra curricular features of the year have been lectures by visiting artists and various exhibits in the art gallery of Whitesitt Hall.

Dr. Ralph W. Kelting, chairman, Department of Biology.

A better understanding is reached through the use of visual aids.

Experimentation is vital to learning.

The Biology Department offers baccalaureate degree programs leading to a Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, and Bachelor of Science in Education. Majors are offered in Biology, General Science, Medical Technology and the teaching of biology. Minors are offered in biology, general science, and health education. Master of science degrees are offered with an emphasis in Botany, Microbiology, and Zoology. A Master of Science in natural science is also available.

Each year several students from KSC enter medical or dental schools after having completed a baccalaureate degree in biology. The department also offers pre-professional training in forestry, nursing, osteopathy, pharmacy and veterinary medicine.

On campus the department has ten well-equipped laboratories with modern instrumentation and has several research areas for staff members and graduate students. Many students majoring in biology are given opportunities at both the graduate and undergraduate level to serve as laboratory assistants.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Ralf J. Thomas, chairman, Department of Business Administration.

Accuracy and efficiency are cultivated skills of business majors.

To meet the demands of business the Department of Business Administration offers programs in the following areas: accounting, finance, marketing, business administration-liberal arts, and office administration; all lead to a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration degree. A business education program is available for those desiring to go into business teaching. At the graduate level a masters degree program is provided for business teachers. Last year representatives from over 100 companies visited the campus to interview KSC business students for various positions; a total of over 500 inquiries were received for possible business teachers.

Modern equipment aids in developing skill.

To encourage student leadership, chapters of various recognized national professional business organizations are available for majors and minors in KSC business department. They include: Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business administration fraternity for men; Pi Omega Pi, national honor society for business administration; Phi Beta Lambda, international future business leaders of America; and the Society for Advancement of Management.

CHEMISTRY

Since chemical knowledge is doubling every seven years, emphasis has shifted from rote memorizing of formulas, equations, and reactions to an understanding of the basic principles involved in these reactions.

No longer is it possible to carry out meaningful and competitive research without the aid of sophisticated instrumentation. This year the Chemistry Department has added two major items of equipment at a total cost of $14,000. Dr. Sunderwirth is shown operating the new infrared spectrophotometer which is used in determining the structures of molecules. The money for the two instruments came from grants from the Office of Education and from the Gulf Oil Corporation.

The department also has research grants and other financial assistance from the National Science Foundation, The National Institute of Health, Dickey Clay, and Bruest Corporation.

Chemistry majors may join the Student Affiliate of the American Chemical Society which has an active chapter on campus.

Instructor works out problem in chemistry seminar.

Dr. Stanley G. Sunderwirth, Chairman, Department of Chemistry.

Students discover and learn through observation.
Experimentation is a daily ritual in the laboratory.

ENGLISH

The English Department has several important functions on the campus. First, it provides numerous sections of freshman composition and sophomore literature as its contribution to the general education program of the college. Second, it provides advanced courses in composition, literature, and linguistics for undergraduates working toward the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degree. For students working toward these baccalaureate degrees the department offers a major in English and minors in English and journalism. Third, for students who wish to do advanced study it offers a strong graduate program in English.

The main task of the department is the training of secondary English and journalism teachers and junior college English teachers. There is a demand for teachers on both levels, and the department attempts to give its majors the best training possible so the demand can be met with qualified people.

Dr. John Q. Reed, Chairman, Department of English.

Summer institute for English teachers is being instructed by Mrs. Jean McColley.

Humanities, a general education course, is provided by the English department.

Students in written communications benefit from advanced study in composition.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Although foreign languages have been taught at K.S.C. for many years, the Foreign Language Department only emerged as a separate department in 1966.

At the present time the Foreign Language Department is located on the third floor in Russ Hall. The department will soon move to the new building which will be ready for the school year '68-'69. The Foreign Language Department offers course work leading to a major or minor in French, German, Russian, and Spanish. A new program for majors has been inaugurated this year with special emphasis on conversation and composition.

The Foreign Language Department sponsors a Spanish and German club. The teachers in the department make it a practice to travel and study in various countries with particular emphasis on the countries whose language they teach.

Mr. Henri Freyburger, Acting Chairman, Department of Foreign Language.

HISTORY

This department, created from the reorganization initiated last year, offers graduate and undergraduate work in history to growing numbers of majors headed for careers in secondary and junior college teaching, advanced study, law, and specialized government service. In addition to heavy enrollments of majors and minors, the department makes a large contribution to the General Education Program of the College through "The American Heritage," primary introduction to college history for roughly a thousand students each year. Auxiliary activities include NDEA Summer History Institutes authorized by the U.S. Office of Education and designed to improve the teaching of high school history. Departmental organizations include the Lambda Chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, the national honor society in history, whose members are students who have demonstrated superior performance in the field, and the History Club, open to all interested students.

Dr. D. T. Cornish, Chairman of the History department, gives a lecture.

Students take notes in American Heritage class.

Students take notes during regular classroom session.

The department of Home Economics offers the Bachelor of Science Degree in Education in Home Economics. The first degree leads to careers in high school teaching and extension; the second to careers in the business world where opportunities for home economists are rapidly expanding. Graduates from the curricula have a sound basis for advanced study

The student Home Economics Chapter, a branch of the American Home Economics Association, offers a stimulating professional program, as does Phi Upsilon Omicron, the professional honorary society. Each organization offers scholarships to qualified students. in one of the many specialized areas of Home Economics.

Students learn the basic fundamentals in a classroom situation.

Dr. Gertrude Chittenden, Chairman, Department of Home Economics.

MATHEMATICS

The Department of Mathematics offers courses leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Science, and the Bachelor of Science in Education for the undergraduates. For the Graduates, the department offers courses leading to the degrees of Master of Arts and Master of Science.

The Kansas Alpha chapter of Kappa Mu Epsilon, a national honorary society in mathematics with sixty-six chapters, is sponsored by the department. Three members of the department have held national offices in this organization.

Dr. R. G. Smith, Chairman, Department of Mathematics.

Problems in algebra stimulates the students' reasoning.

MILITARY SCIENCE

The Military Science Department offers a general military science program, emphasizing the development of leadership abilities and skills essential to any executive position. The basic course provides a knowledge of individual soldiering. The advanced course is designed to develop leadership, to broaden military knowledge, and to receive a commission in the United States Army as a Second Lieutenant upon graduation.

Advanced course cadets attend a six-week camp where classroom knowledge is supplemented with concentrated applications of military tactics, operations, and leadership. K.S.C. cadets have won the Camp Commanders Trophy for the past three summers for having the highest overall proficiency within their college classification.

Opportunities are offered to the corps for participation in flight training, scholarship programs, ROTC Band, and honorary societies.

Colonel Irving D. Warden, Chairman, Department of Military Science.

The Color Guard marches by in review.

One cadet graduates with four years of R.O.T.C. training.

Cadets receive honors.

Award is given to the Outstanding Cadet in Company E at summer camp.

MUSIC

McCray Hall, the home of the Music Department, is the focal point of a wide gamut of musical activities. In addition to training future teachers of music for all levels from kindergarten through college, the department provides performance opportunities to all students in large organizations, the band, orchestra, and choral groups. Opera workshop activities carried on throughout the year accumulate in major productions each spring and summer.

Specialists in each applied area, many of whom give distinguished faculty recitals themselves, prepare dozens of student soloists and small ensembles for public appearances. These activities, supplemented by performances by distinguished international guest ensembles and solo artists, provide a constant calendar of valuable musical fare for the college community.

Dr. Millard M. Laing, Chairman, Department of Music.

The college choir sings for graduation ceremonies.

The stage band auditions for campus talent.

The woodwind quintet performs for afternoon recital.

Collegiates return home from nine-week tour of the South Pacific.

PHYSICS

The physics department offers course work leading to a major or minor in physics with degrees of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, and Specialist in Education. The department cooperates with the departments of Biology, Chemistry and Education and Psychology to offer course work leading to the degrees of Master of Science in Natural Science (physics emphasis), Specialist in Education (physics), and Specialist in Physical Science.

The department trains students for industrial physicists, and graduate research as well as for teaching. All research at present is in solid state physics.

Dr. Bruce Daniel, Chairman, Department of Physics.

Rush to class begins in the Lobby of Yates Hall.

Dr. Richard C. Welty, Chairman,
Department of Social Science.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

The Social Science Department is an administrative collection of the Departments of economics, geography, philosophy, political science, and sociology. The departmental faculty in each of these five departments have developed undergraduate curriculums in economics, geography, philosophy, political science, sociology, social work, pre-law, and pre-theology. Graduate work is offered in social science, political science, and sociology. Almost four hundred undergraduate and graduate students are presently working toward degrees in one of the divisions of the department. The addition of six new staff members in the various divisions has strengthened the faculty this year and permitted addition of new courses in the areas of international relations, social behavior, urban and political geography, and economic analysis. In addition to a continuing improvement in the department's liberal arts and teaching curriculums, special improvements are planned to strengthen the offerings for students interested in careers in government service and social work.

Students ponder test questions.

Free discussion prevails in social science seminar.

Students contemplate problems in Social Science.

SPEECH AND DRAMATIC ART

The Department of Speech and Dramatic Arts provides both liberal arts instruction for the Bachelor of Arts degree and teacher preparation for the Bachelor of Science in Education degree in Speech. Graduate majors in speech may earn a Master of Science degree.

The staff provides instruction in basic speech, public address, debate-forensics, radio-TV, discussion, oral-interpretation, and all phases of play production. The related co-curricular activities include an active and competitive intercollegiate debate squad, a college radio studio, and a full schedule of theater productions.

Students may gain membership in local chapters of Theta Alpha Phi, honorary drama society, and in Pi Kappa Delta, honorary society.

Dr. William P. Spence, Dean, School of Technology;
Acting Chairman, Industrial Technology.

SCHOOL OF TECHNOLOGY

The newly formed School of Technology is the latest development in the reorganization of the college. Dr. William P. Spence is dean of this school. It includes three departments, Industrial Arts Education, Industrial Technology, and Trade and Technical Education.

Graduates of these majors secure high level technical or management positions in industry. They become involved in design, testing, production, management, and supervisory duties. Frequently they become a part of an engineering staff.

This school offers eight two-year college-level technical curricula. These are designed to prepare personnel for entrance into occupations requiring some technical preparation.

The School of Technology offers the Master of Science degree in all three departments and the Education Specialist degree for teachers.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS EDUCATION

Industrial arts is that phase of general education which offers individuals an insight into our industrial society through laboratory-classroom experiences. Through the study of industrial arts the role of industry and technology is unfolded. Students study the history, growth, and development of industrial organizations, materials, products, processes, and related problems. The complexity of the age in which we live is the result of industrial-scientific inventions and innovations. Industrial arts emphasizes problem-solving experiences which assist students in becoming alert contributors and consumers.

Dr. Forest L. Penny, Chairman, Dept. of Industrial Arts Education.

TRADE AND TECHNICAL EDUCATION

Dr. Ben S. Vineyard, Chairman, Dept. of Trade and Technical Education.

The Trade and Technical Education Department, with offices and classrooms located in Whitesitt Hall, was formed in July, 1966. Previously it had been a division in the department of Industrial Education and Art. The department cooperates with the Kansas State Board for Vocational Education in preparing teachers for federally reimbursed trade and technical schools and classes. Course work is offered leading to these degrees: Bachelor of Science in Trade and Industrial Education, Master of Science with a major in Trade and Industrial Education, and Specialist in Education.

A state-wide program of extension, short courses, workshops and consultation is provided for trade and technical teachers in high schools, area vocational schools, and junior colleges.

Annual activity highlights include the Trade and Industrial Education workshop for instructors and administrators, and contests for the members of the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America. In 1966 the workshop was attended by 230 trade and technical teachers and administrators.

VOCATIONAL TECHNICAL TRAINING

Vocational training is available at Kansas State College of Pittsburg for students who do not wish to spend four years in the pursuit of a college degree program to prepare for employment. Courses offered in the Vocational Department are air conditioning and refrigeration, auto body repair, auto mechanics, cabinet and furniture making, cosmetology, drafting, technology, electricity, machine shop, radio and television repair, and welding. These courses are twenty months in length with the exception of cosmetology, which is only a nine months course, and are designed to develop the skills necessary to succeed in the trade and technical occupations. Many opportunities for employment are available in the trade and technical occupations for young people.

Leland D. Boone, Chairman, Dept. of Vocational Technical Training.

What is the newest fraternity on campus?
 It is the fraternity who took fourth place with their Homecoming Queen float.
 It is the fraternity who raffled a Volkswagen.
 It is the fraternity with the outstanding mailbox in the front yard.
 It is the fraternity who had a pledge sneak to Tulsa.
 It is the fraternity who held the housemothers kidnapped to gather food for the needy families in town.
 It is the fraternity that has had three mascots: Zorba, Clancey, and Hans.
 It is the fraternity that had a pledge take a nap in Aces' parking lot.
 It is the fraternity to keep an eye on in the years ahead.

Hey put that back!

"Our gang had 50% fewer fires".

The fire and smoke of war, the pain and heart-break which haunt the veterans in time of peace—these forces caused six remarkable young men to take a momentous step on March 1, 1868. Realizing that college men can develop best when they meet challenges together as brothers, these six friends— young in body but war-weary and old in experiences—founded the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity at the University of Virginia.

The dream of those men was maximum development of the individual. And this dream, nearly a century old, is still being realized in 151 Pike chapters throughout America.

Here at K.S.C., 1967 is a year of growth, prestige, and the ever-present good times for the men of Epsilon Chi chapter. After winning first place in the Homecoming float competition with their magnificent "Wizard of Oz", the Pikes continued to work toward the completion of their comfortable new fraternity house, which includes a superb food service and first-rate cooks. Pikes are strong in both scholarship and athletics this year, and observant citizens may see them relaxing in their "new" 1937 fire truck.

If we could only read lips.

"SIGS team up with tackle".

Long ago in old Miami . . . yes, that's where we were founded (Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, June 18, 1855 to be exact). Well, anyway, we were founded 112 years ago. We have survived the Civil War, the Bull Moose Party, Prohibition, the New Deal, the New Frontier, the Twist, the miniskirt (almost) and last but not least, Batman!! Yes, we're as solid as the Rock of Gibraltar.

Our colors are Blue and Gold and they shine forever. Our flower—the White Rose. What about a Sweetheart? Every co-ed is our Sweetheart, but Glenda Robertson happens to be our main one. We specialize in Derby Days, Sweetheart Formals, Playboy Parties, Scholarship Trophies, and Brotherhood. Some people call us Sigma Chis, but we go by SIGS.

The Newman Club provides religious, intellectual, and social opportunities for both Catholic and non-Catholic students on the campus.

The primary aim of the Club is a religious training program for members to further their knowledge of Catholicism and, thus, to strengthen their faith.

Through such activities as lectures, discussions, weekend institutes, dances, and intramural athletic teams, they realize the threefold goal of the club.

During this year the meetings of the Newman Club have been held in the Student Union because the club is in the process of acquiring a new center. When the new building is finished the students will once again have a place to go to relax or for their moments of private prayers. The new chapel will continue to serve the spiritual needs of the members.

Mimi Gudgeon is an active leader not only in the biology department, but also in Golden Crest and Alpha Sigma Alpha. Kathleen Spicer Hill since her freshman year has starred in musical productions and participated in the speech and English departmental organizations. Larry Bradshaw has taken honors in art, music, and dramatics. As a Collegiate he toured the South Pacific. He is also a member of ODK.

Eileen Kuhel presides as Alpha Gamma Delta's president and spends hours working with Panhellenic Council. Steve Newton works both in his fraternity, Sigma Chi, as a pledge, and with ODK. On the Student Union Board Martha Hutchins has gained seniority by serving as chairman of many committees. Martha also works with the residence hall program.
